CHARLES R. BISHOP DIES ON COAST AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS; CITY MOURNS

Death of Man Who Played Great Part in Upbuilding of Hawaii
Shadows Community—Businesshouses Close and Flags are Half-masted—Public Memorial Service May Be Held

Charles R. Bishop, one of the notable men in the annals of Hawaii, whose name is inseparably connected with the upbuilding of the islands industrially, educationally and socially, died in San Francisco this morning, at the age of 93 years and four months.

Though he had resided in San Francisco for the past 20 years, his countless friends in the islands have always retained the liveliest respect, love and admiration for him and when the news came today that death had resulted from a brief illness, the entire city instantly prepared to do honor to his memory. Within a few moments after telegraph messages announced the death, business houses and offices were being closed up and flags placed at half-mast.

It is not unlikely that a special public memorial service will be held in Honolulu and, in addition, at various schools and philanthropic institutions generously aided by himself and his wife, the Princess Bernice Pauahi Bishop, there will be commemorative exercises.

Though his advanced age had shown in recent years in some physical feebleness, it was a shock for his relatives and friends here to learn last Thursday that he was seriously ill, the first news coming in a despatch to the Star-Bulletin. This was followed by news that he was better but it was realized that his weight of years was against the chance of recovery. He had been sinking for a day or two, it is understood.

A few minutes after the news was received in this city of the death of Mr. Bishop, banks, sugar factors and business houses closed their doors for the day in respect to the memory of the deceased. Among those to close are Bishop's bank, the First National bank, Bank of Hawaii, Bank of Honolulu, Castle & Cooke, C. Brewer & Company, F. A. Schaefer & Company, W. O. Smith and others. At Punahou and Kamehameha schools the flags are flying half mast today but as this is the closing week, neither institution is closed. According to an announcement of the president, Punahou academy will hold appropriate memorial services on the day of Mr. Bishop's funeral.

Came to Hawaii in 1846.
Mr. Bishop came to Hawaii in 1846 from his home in New York. He was born January 25, 1822, at Glenn Falls, N. Y. From the early '50s until he removed to San Francisco 20 years ago he was a valued citizen of Hawaii and after getting a start in business here came to command a powerful and a kindly influence both in public and in private affairs.

His was the sturdy product of sturdy New England stock. An appreciative sketch of him, given in the San Francisco Chronicle a few months ago, contained the following salient facts of his life:

His ancestors were New Englanders for a number of generations before his advent upon earth, his maternal grandfather having fought for the colonies in the Revolutionary war. Orphaned in his early childhood, Mr. Bishop went to live with his grandparents, attending the local grammar school. His first real employment was at the age of 15, when he left home, went to a neighboring village and took work in a country store. He also was employed for a time on a farm, and when he was 20 became a salesman and bookkeeper in a store at Sandy Hill. Here he formed a friendship with William L. Lee, a graduate of the University of Norwich and later of Harvard Law School, a friendship that was destined to take the two youths together half around the world.

It was in 1845, four years before California became the mecca for gold seekers, that the eyes of the two youths were turned westward. Oregon was at that time in the limelight as a point of dispute in the settlement of boundary claims between Great Britain and the United States. The chums decided that the West was the coming country; so on February 23, 1846, they sailed away from Newburyport on the little brigantine Henry, which was to round the Horn, touch at Honolulu and thence set her course for Oregon. By the first of July she was to be at her destination.

Barkentine Driven to Hawaii.
Here fate stepped in, with the elements as its co-conspirators. The voyage was a stormy one, the vessel was tossed about at the mercy of the waves, and upon reaching St. Colhermes, Brazil, she put into port for safety. In October, eight months after she sailed from Newburyport, the barkentine reached Honolulu. The weather was still bad and young Bishop and Lee decided to remain in Hawaii until the spring following.

Before a week had passed, the lure of Hawaii was upon them. Lee, with his legal training, started practicing and soon became superior judge, and later chief justice of the supreme court. The United States consul needed a secretary and Mr. Bishop got the place. This he held until the word went out in 1849 that California's mountains and valleys were fairly reeking with gold. Mr. Bishop got the mining fever and was for completing the voyage, as originally planned. Here is where Judge Lee undoubtedly did his friend a great service, for he persuaded him to remain in the islands. Shortly afterward he became collector-general of customs for the kingdom, going from this into the mercantile business with W. A. Aldrich as his partner.

For the next five years the business was carried on. But meanwhile Mr. Bishop, in looking over the field, had

Hawaii Day at Fair to Be Spectacular Event

San Francisco Newspapers Devote Much Space to Fete on Kamehameha Day—Governor to Be Center of Celebration

[Associated Press Service by Federal Wireles]
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 7.—Hawaii Day at the Panama-Pacific exposition will be one of the big events of the summer season at the great fair. Already much attention has been attracted to the forthcoming celebration. A tremendous crowd will be on hand at the festivities.

The San Francisco Chronicle today carries a "banner line" across an entire page with the words "Hawaii plans great celebration at the exposition." Governor Pinkham and the princess are shown in large pictures. The Chronicle further says: "Water pageant to be feature of Hawaii day. Distinguished party headed by Governor Pinkham to participate in night display on lake. Observance of island territory to be typical and unique."

The Examiner also gives much space to the story. The Hawaii Day celebration is expected to excel in brilliance. The water fete will take place on the lagoon in front of the Palace of Fine Arts. The water pageant will be in honor of Governor Pinkham, who arrives tomorrow from Honolulu.

The Examiner declares that the "spectacle will surpass any festival of its kind yet given at the exposition."

CASH FOR ERLY NOT LIKELY TO BE REFUNDED

Promotion Body Has Misgivings—"No Funds in Treasury," Says Waldron

"We would like to have the $250 which we contributed toward the expense of bringing A. J. Erly to Hawaii as press agent of the congressional party, refunded," was the resolution passed by the Promotion Committee and submitted to the Chamber of Commerce shortly after the departure of the congressmen last month. The chamber, however, has taken no action upon the matter and members of the Promotion Committee begin to have misgivings about that $250.

"There are no funds in the treasury," said Fred A. Waldron, president of the chamber, today. "Besides, I feel that the money was well spent. We will get returns on it indirectly, if not directly, by having complied with the request of the congressmen to bring Erly along."

Erly was charged by members of the Promotion Committee with being a baggage agent rather than a press agent.

WITH HEAD ERECT MURDERER HEARS DEATH SENTENCE

Pak Chi Ser, Who Killed Wife, May Hang After Expiration of Fourteen Days

"It is the judgment and sentence of this court that you suffer the death penalty," Circuit Judge Ashford this morning for the first time in his career pronounced a sentence of death. Pak Chi Ser, the Korean who was found guilty of having murdered his wife in Liliha street the night of May 24, stood with head erect as the sentence was interpreted to him. There was a faint smile on his lips, but he said nothing.

Unless executive clemency is granted, Pak Chi Ser will hang after two weeks have expired. The court has ordered that the execution be at Oahu Prison. The time of the execution will be fixed in the governor's warrant, which will be executed by Acting Governor Wade Warren Thayer, Governor Pinkham being absent from the territory.

Statements of counsel and the court regarding the case, and the sentencing of the defendant, consumed little more than 15 minutes. Judge W. J. Robinson, who defended the Korean, had nothing to say. A. M. Brown, deputy city and county attorney, asked that the death penalty be imposed.

Pak Chi Ser said he had no reason to offer why sentence should not be pronounced against him. His head was bowed when he made this statement through an interpreter.

"As you have been found guilty of murder in the first degree," said Judge Ashford, "the law provides death as the punishment. It is well that you, as well as others, understand that in cases of this kind the court has no discretion. It must impose a sentence of death and no other."

"The judge particularly at a time like this is but an instrument of the law; he is merely a cog in the machinery of justice, and must act without any discretion whatever."

"You will understand that in imposing sentence on you, the judge of this court is not acting upon his own volition, but as the mouthpiece of justice and society in general."

The arrival of the Matsun Navigation freighter Hilonian from Puget Sound this morning was welcomed by local pineapple canners who were advised that the vessel carried a large quantity of supplies. The Hilonian was filled with a varied cargo. The United States army quartermaster received more than 500 tons of feed and forage. About 30,000 bundles of box shooks were included in the freight.

A charge of selling intoxicating liquor without a license has been placed against K. Maki, proprietor of a store at Kahaluu.

LIST OF FORTY TALESMEN FOR SCULLY TRIAL

Work of Securing Third Jury in Long Drawn Out Case
Begins in Federal Court

Forty representative businessmen of Honolulu were in federal court this morning when the day's session opened at 10 o'clock. Business managers, clerks, promotion workers, financiers and plantation managers were gathered together in response to a summons ordering them to appear as members of a special venire from which it is expected a jury will be secured to try for the third time the case of John T. Scully.

In addition to the 40 special talesmen there were five jurors present who are members of the regular panel. These were called into the stand first for examination.

The members of the special venire are Richard H. Trent, J. Andrade, F. W. Thrum, A. E. Cooley, A. P. Taylor, W. R. Farrington, John Watt, Palmer Woods, C. B. Wilson, C. F. Loomis, Robert Law, Stephen G. Gump, Alexander Hume Ford, C. J. Scheid, W. W.

COMMITTEES TO SELECT KAUAI'S PROMOTION MAN

Kauai is the first of the islands to reply to the official notification sent out by A. P. Taylor on behalf of the Promotion Committee that a member from each of the islands, Hawaii, Maui, Oahu and Kauai, would be added to the Hawaii Promotion Committee.

J. Mahali Kaneakua, county clerk at Lihue, writes that the board of supervisors elected three of its members, H. D. Wishard, W. D. McBryde and A. Menefoglio, to meet with a committee from the Kauai Chamber of Commerce for the nomination of Kauai's representative on the Promotion committee. The selection will be submitted to Governor Pinkham for official appointment.

PEKING MAY BE RAISED

Dr. Paul Samuel Reinsch, whose post may be advanced to an ambassadorship. Dr. Reinsch has passed through Honolulu several times on his way to China and has a number of friends here. He was appointed by President Wilson and was formerly a professor at the University of Wisconsin.

(Special to Nippu Jiji)

TOKIO, June 6.—That China will establish embassies at the capitals of Japan, United States, England, France, Germany and Russia is the substance of an unconfirmed report from Peking today. Japan has given her consent for China to create the office of ambassador to the powers in place of the present minister. It is not known what attitude the nations in question, and particularly England, will take in the diplomatic arrangement.

Should China send an ambassador to the United States this nation would be induced by the unwritten law of nations to reciprocate by creating an embassy at Peking in place of the American legation. Nations are represented at foreign capitals by an official equal to that country's representative at the home capital. America's minister to China is Dr. Paul S. Reinsch.

LIGHT OPERA IS PROMISED FOR OCTOBER

D. P. McFadden Will Bring
Repertoire Company Headed
By Miss Bernice Holmes

D. P. McFadden, formerly a star with the Tivoli players at the famous old Tivoli theater in San Francisco, returned to the Coast in the Sierra last Saturday after having spent several weeks looking over the local theatrical field. Mr. McFadden watched with interest the recent grand opera season and decided that Honolulu would appreciate "light" opera.

As a result he has made arrangements to bring to this city during the fall, probably early in October, a company of capable artists and present a number of the favorite comic operas, including several of the ever popular Gilbert & Sullivan repertoire.

Miss Bernice Holmes, coloratura soprano with the Bevan Grand Opera Company, and for many years a star with the Tivoli company of San Francisco, will return with the comic opera company in the role of character woman. Miss Holmes, incidentally, was with all of the Henry W. Savage organizations when that producer was giving grand opera in English, and has had a wide experience in the musical world.

Among the operas to be produced by the McFadden organization are: "Said Pasha," "The Mascot," "Olivette," "Chimes of Normandy," "Girofl-Girofla," "The Mikado," "Pinafore," "Pirates of Penzance," "Fra Diavolo," "The Bohemian Girl" and "Two Vagabonds."

Before sailing for the mainland Mr. McFadden stated that the length of the engagement of his company would depend entirely upon the support given by the public of Honolulu. "We will have a repertoire," he said, "that will be sufficiently large to allow us to make an extended visit, and I am of the opinion that this is the class of entertainment that will prove a success in this city."
